

identified and documented in order to protect the IP value of these resources. Further this will essentially help in the sustainable development of various communities of this desert area if efficient policies of benefit sharing can be worked out. With this background, we propose to design and carry out our TKDDBWR project (Digital Database of Traditional Knowledge of Western Rajasthan).

Objectives :

1. Identification of communities holding TK by field survey
2. Classification of TK
3. IPR Sensitization programs for TK holder communities
4. Extraction of relevant information from TK holders for documentation
5. Create a digital database of this traditional knowledge of western Rajasthan
6. Design & recommend policies for protection of this traditional knowledge
7. Design models of benefit sharing for use and appropriation of Traditional Knowledge.

Execution Steps:

1. Conduct IPR Sensitization Program in rural areas of western Rajasthan i.e. villages, dhani etc.
2. Make a survey in such areas to identify traditional knowledge sources and practices.
3. Develop a questionnaire or form in local language to retrieve the traditional knowledge practiced in the community
4. Extract out relevant information from primary data and arrange in proper format
5. Digitization of formatted traditional knowledge data and store it in digital data base "TKDDBWR"

Policy Development:

1. Prepare guideline for effective protection of traditional knowledge practiced in Western Rajasthan
2. Design models of benefit sharing for use and appropriation of Traditional Knowledge.

Budget Requirement
(from April,2010- March,2011)
